

A B S T R A C T

A vehicle seat comprises a seat back mounted to pivot on a seat proper via first and second hinges, each
5 of which has two pivotally mounted cheek plates that can be locked by locking members mounted to move inside the cheek plates, the locking members of the first hinge being mounted to slide radially only, and the locking members of the second hinge being mounted to slide
10 radially and with a certain amount of play in a circumferential direction.